

Team Reflection - Sprint 3

Scrum master: Isak

Product owner: Wilma

This week generally worked well. We finished all the user stories in the sprint backlog although we had 10 more story points than last sprint. This means we estimated well how much work the group could take on.

We have learned this week that using “As a user” in the beginning of a user story is bad practice and in the upcoming sprints we will try to be more creative.

One thing we want to get better at is booking meeting rooms in time. One meeting this week we had not booked a room and had to sit in a common area. This was not optimal since we did not get privacy. So, in the upcoming weeks we will book rooms earlier to ensure that we can find available ones.

This week we tried pair programming and it worked really well. When doing this you get two perspectives of the problem and it can also make the product better since you get forced to solve any differences in ideas you have.

The team has been doing well this week with a lot more teamwork when developing the product. By following the acceptance criteria and definition of done the code has been kept to a good standard. The structure in the codebase could be better, currently files are just piling up in the src folder, this could be improved by adding subfolders.

In the next sprint we are going to focus on integrating the frontend and the backend. We also want to work more on the cards and add things on it, for example add information and make them turn on click. Also, find a way to work with css better.

Backlog

- As a user I want to be able to track my habits by choosing what cards that are visible, so that I can track the habits that are most important to me.
- As a user I want to be able to save my progress for each habit so I can start developing my habits.
- As a user I want a personal tracker so that I can personalize my experience.
- As a user I want my counters to reset each week so I can track weekly habits.
- As a user I want to be able to see the calendar in a monthly view so that I can see how my habits change over a bigger amount of time.
- As a user I want to be able to see the calendar in a yearly view so that I can see how my habits change over a bigger amount of time.

Sprint Backlog

- 014 As a user I want a personal account so that I can track my habits and see statistics.
- 015 As a user I want a standard view with habits so that I can easily get started with tracking my habits.
- 013 As a user I want a way to go back in a calendar and look at previous specific weeks so that I can compare my habits.
- 011 As a user I want to be able to press a button on each card to receive the information about what my habits do, so that I stay motivated in the course of growing good habits.
- 010 As a user I want to get information about each habit and why it should be done, so that I know why I have done these habits.

In Progress

Done

- 009 As a user I want a database so that my information can be stored in the future.
- 008 As a user I want to have several buttons to push when I did something good for the climate, so I can start growing different habits.
- 007 As a user I want a menu that shows me the different parts of the site so that it is easy to navigate.
- 006 As a user I want more pages to access than just the homepage so that the site is more structured and variated.
- 005 As a product owner, I want a unique and eye-catching logo that reflects the values and identity of my brand in order to establish a strong visual presence and attract potential customers.
